WEEKLY ACTIVITIES

Friday, October 6, Brooke is back from the Hart Gallery. Meet in the Treehouse at 10:00.

Saturday, 10/7, Get ready for some high-flying fun when the skies at Sculpture Fields will be filled with colossal and colorful kites, stunt kites, and Rokaku battle kites. In addition to the kites, we will see performances by Chattanooga Aerials, have a chance to make our own kites, and more! We'll leave about 1:00.

Fun at Go Fest and the Chattanooga Zoo.

It's time for our annual fundraiser, Harvest for Hope! We ask that all residents attend this event. Dress is nice, but not fancy. The food is great, the setting is beautiful, and we always have a good time! So mark your calendars for NEXT THURSDAY night.

Today, I'd like to actually follow my on-going advice to my appreciative readers. Admittedly, I have insisted on wanting us all to be more appreciative of the many blessings we continually receive. Here at Hosanna Community, which houses many miracles, we need to thank so very many giving individuals and churches for their God-blessed care. I certainly don't have the space or time to focus on every group or person who has left a mark on us. So, I will briefly mention some well-deserved thanks to those who I feel are contributing to our ongoing happiness, and particularly, just recently. I'd like to recognize Rivermont Presbyterian Church for a great barbecue picnic that included music and singing. It was a true blessing to meet Tye and learn of his children, whom I look forward to meeting in the near future. Stuart Heights Baptist Church: you ladies continue to bring good cheer and excellent food and we thank you. St. Timothy's Episcopal Church: we now have electricity and a ceiling fan in the outside pavilion. We are so pleased with your aid in funding the notable improvement. St. Alban's Episcopal Church: the men's monthly pancake breakfast is a treat; we are greeted with kindness and we never leave hungry. All in all, despite the denomination, with God's help, we continue to carry on. Many thanks to you all!
