This Week's Activities:

It's a quiet week as we process the end of one year and look ahead to the new year!

Saturday, Dec. 31: New Year's Eve Party at Hope House! Susan is planning lots of fun and great food. Take a nap if you have to, but you won't want to miss this!

Fun at the annual CABIA Holiday party, where we met up with former Faith Resident Josh Swartz (second from left).

Today's issue, interestingly, is both a serious and comparative look at the similarities between the challenges of golf and life. To begin with, both include many obstacles requiring multiple decisions to overcome. Although you have supportive and negative components in both, wait a minute: you, your frame of mind, and your overall attitude effect how they both will be approached. You, and yes, God, are the only things to credit for a good or bad performance. I highly suggest you remain positively thankful to our Lord in both golf and life. A real common question facing golfers is "should I concern myself with and focus on accuracy or distance?" This relates to life's question: "Do I concentrate on my kindness or my profit?" Although there are advantages to each situation, my friends, for the best results, always spend time in golf lowering your score with accuracy, and in life, remain positive in God's eyes by "doing unto others as you would have done unto you." In other words, a loving, kind attitude will benefit you most. Isn't it interesting—in golf and life, both.
