

Katie: kwalters.hosanna@comcast.net

Susan: srdistefano@comcast.net

This Week's Activities:

Tues., Aug 16, CABIA monthly support meeting. This month, an exciting art project. Items created will be auctioned off at CABIA's annual fundraiser in the fall.

Wed., Aug. 17, Bowling Team meeting, 7:00

Fri., Aug. 19, North River Civic Center, Sweet Georgia Sound, 6:30.

Sat., Aug. 20, Walmart shopping. 10:00

Thank you, Fairview United Methodist Church, for a pickup truck load of paper and assorted household products!!

We've got a bowling team entered in the Fall Special Olympics. Orlando, Susan, Connor, Linda and Kirk will represent Hosanna. First team meeting is Wednesday, August 17, at 7:00 in the rec room. We'll discuss team expectations, the practice schedule and team t-shirts!

Above: Residents head out to see Chitty Chitty Bang Bang at the Signal Mountain Playhouse last month. Thank you, Anne Rittenberry, for arranging for us to attend at no cost! Below: Kirk, Susan, Connor, Terry, Sherolyn and Orlando take the mic for a song at Dairy Queen.

Although my themes are often repetitive, perhaps there is a significant reason for that. Admittedly, I have repeatedly asked you this question: Isn't reaching His promise that you shall not perish but receive everlasting life by putting your salvation in his hands a super consequence to a fairly easy choice? Today I'd like to dig a little deeper. Let's look at life's greatest blessings for a minute. Arguably, there are many. I truly feel, in believing God's promises, it is a result of the heavenly-given gift of choice. You can choose to accept His word or not. Good luck to those who don't. At any rate, I'd like for you to also think about this for a minute: it's the reason I do feel that "God does work in mysterious ways." What I mean, is, isn't it simply amazing how someone can walk into your life one day and about one week later you wonder how you ever lived without them? As I close, I wish to reiterate: you have been given the opportunity to make choices while being the artist of your life. So, make it beautiful!

Connor's Corner

ECR