

WEEKLY ACTIVITIES

Mon., Sept. 21: 10:00 a.m., Yoga/Stretching

2:00 p.m., Art with Mary

Tues., Sept. 22: Happy First Day of Autumn!

10:00 a.m., Chair Yoga

2:00 p.m., Outdoor games with prizes!

Wed., Sept. 23: 10:00 a.m., Crepes Brunch Bar!!

2:00 p.m., Bowling

Thurs., Sept. 24: 10:00 a.m., Working with Weights

2:00 p.m., Let's Make Apple Pie Bites!

Friday, Sept. 25: 10:00 a.m., Walk-a-Mile Challenge

2:00 p.m., Name that 90's TV Show Theme Song!

Today's message should positively help everyone who reads on. Its main focus covers the responsibilities involved in parenting, but the conclusion is all encompassing. Let me first admit my full respect for those of you blessed with the miracle of parenting. No one ever said the task would be easy, especially when it involves children with special attention and needs. Raising children with care, guidance and love to be their best, to always remain appropriate and to be thankful for the gift of life also involves one special consideration. It is truly important to teach them the lifetime lesson to make sure to not just pay attention to but make certain that rules are followed. Rules are made as directions for conduct, a customary course of action of behavior, to keep within proper limits, sometimes with restraint as a means to exercise control and establishing decrees not to be broken. Bad choices lead to bad consequences. Poor work habits lead to poor results. And you have no one to blame except yourself. When you think about it, life is a series of rules. Follow them. Quit blaming others for your misfortunes if/when you break a rule. If you are at wit's end, try blaming Jesus for helping you fail and see where that gets you.

Connor's

Corner

