It shouldn't be hard to say:

Connor's

"I've got people I'd like to pray for today." What truly annoys me is that people are too tempted to question if the Lord will act at all, fearing their situation won't change. I believe to be directly opposite: We always need to be thankful for the power of prayer.

Admittedly, we will never know how or when HE can respond to our request. We do know, however, HE is our heavenly Father who answers prayers to help us feel comfortable with HIS goodness and love. HE is hopeful in our trust of HIS caring faithfulness.

I ask you to avoid being cynical or negative when you consider praying for those you love. Instead, follow the teachings of Samuel in the Bible. 1 Samuel 7:8 states:

"They said to Samuel, "Do not stop crying out to the LORD our God for us, that he may rescue us from the hand of the Philistines."

Strengthen your faith: As first stated, surely you have someone you pray for. Okay. What's stopping you?
