We all are aware of the truth of many assertions and expressions. It is very interesting how we can make a definitive statement in a large number of ways. Curiously, as a result of Mrs. Katie Walters allowing me to select a defining Irish quotation to hang on my door that I found an interesting way to repeat what I learned as a young child. It is fairly common to be told, "What's yours is yours, and you can do with it what you please. Try not to mess up other people's stuff. Keep your hands off other people's things, and never take what is not yours."

As we grow older and have children, in addition to passing on the lesson to them, they become a parent's true everything. You better not mess with a parent's child unless you are ready to face the consequences of an upset parent.

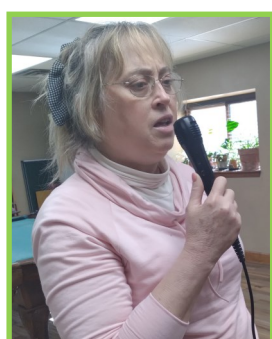

All in all, although the following Irish quote is unusual, its theme is precise. I am very glad the following words are on my door: "EVERYMAN IS SOCIABLE UNTIL A COW INVADES HIS GARDEN."

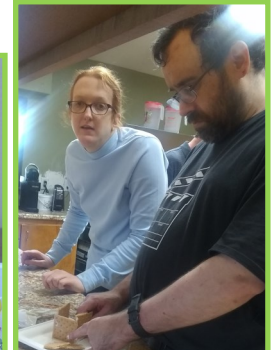

A favorite Hosanna pastime:
BINGO
with prizes, of course!

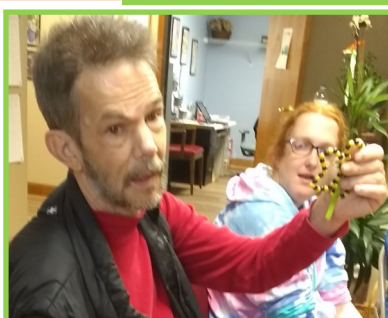

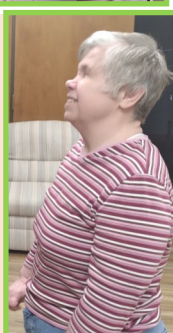

A sweet treat:
Making "Peeps Houses"

Getting ready for St. Patty's Day with a beaded shamrock centerpiece Karaoke is a HUGE favorite around Hosanna. Everyone is a star!!
