The Spare Time Bowling Crew

Isn't it interesting that when a person is making a presentation, such as a sermon, their topic is tailored for the audience, and select words are chosen to gain a differing reaction based on who is present? Well, let me explain: I do feel when we speak or write, we need to consider the true consequences of what we are saying. I am also adamant in my belief that it is everyone's best interest to seek HIS help - first. Bringing forgiveness while also offering salvation definitely defines the Lord. But let's all remember the main reason for the birth of Christ: The heavenly gift of the chance to obtain eternal life. I feel that no matter who you are, it is a real nice consequence following an easy choice. It's yours to make. I wish you the best.
