An evening of music and sing-a-longs at Burks UMC

Admittedly, love is a difficult topic. Some have argued it is a unique four-letter word. God is convincingly defined as love. I feel strongly that love cannot be defined as talk or theory, but by completing kind deeds. It is NOT intent, but rather it is action. It's in no way set in stone, but is actually a daily choice, based on your attitude, then love is completed.

Attitude defines what you say, how you act and react, how you treat people and, ultimately, if you are kind to others and are capable of sharing love. The joy God seeks for Himself and us to copy results from goodness, is kindness, love, patience and peace.

Joyce Meyers is adamant: "To abound in love is still the very best thing we can do." She's saying - to be and do our best - is to make sure we love others, as God asks us to do, to the best of our ability. Kristin Chenoweth's message to "love as much as you can everyday" is a means to discover: "the more love you give, the more you get back." Remember: God's habit is to reward us for loving others.

It was great having WTCI/PBS TV with us last week. Lorin, "the camera guy," joined us for lunch (including a doughnut!), filmed us at exercise class, the salad bar, the garden & The Treehouse.
